WITH THE CFDT, SHED LIGHT ON YOUR PURCHASING POWER !

FLAMBÉE DES PRIX !

Every new increase in fuel prices means a loss of purchasing power. Recent events have shown employee concern on this topic.

In recent years, a large number of major geopolitical events have taken place, which undeniably have negative effects on the economy.

At Airbus, Management claims an ambitious pay policy, with global budgets above inflation. The reality is undoubtedly more complex to understand, depending on individual salary increases for each employee.

That is why CFDT offers you the opportunity to calculate using your personal data the evolution of your purchasing power between 2020 and 2026, thanks to our online calculator. Members will also have access to a comparison with 2026 minimum hierarchical salaries and 2025 median salaries.

Your feedback will help us support our demands during discussions on the follow-up clause of the 2026 pay policy. On this occasion, CFDT will present quantified demands.

Keep in mind for the late 2027 elections: remember to vote for CFDT representatives who practice what they preach!
